

unworthy of any party and disgraceful to any cause. The truth of the old adage "Whom the Gods will to destroy they first make mad" was never more aptly exemplified, than in its application to the leaders of the Van Buren party. In their attempts to sustain this administration, they blush at nothing; private character and worth, public prosperity and peace are unfeelingly assailed, and even the history of the country is attempted unblushingly to be falsified to accomplish their ends. All will not avail them; the day of retribution is at hand and the verdict of an indignant people awaits them in November.

A PROPOSITION FOR RELIEF.

The writer of this article is aware that a portion of the people, at all times and under all circumstances, are opposed to relief measures of every description; many like the wreckers on the sea coast, who rejoice at the wreck of some unfortunate vessel whereby they may be benefited are secretly rejoiced at the distress of the community in which they live, with the hope that they may be benefited thereby—that in the general wreck they may be enabled to seize upon a portion of the property of the unfortunate at a priceless cost. Such will oppose every proposition for relief. To those who are not willing to stand with their arms folded and smile upon the wide spread destruction of the present time, with a hope they may glean something therefrom, and in the meantime delivering grave lectures upon the past extravagances of the community, my proposition is addressed. It is unnecessary for me to comment upon the unparalleled pressure of the times, the almost total absence of the means to pay debts, the reduction in the staple commodity of our state, the immense property that is rapidly leaving it and the absolute certainty of the destruction, in a pecuniary point of view, of a large portion of all classes of society. The sale days of the collecting officers speak in language upon these subjects that cannot be misunderstood.

The last session of our Legislature wisely determined that they would arrest for a time at least, the sacrifice of property. That measure must be continued or its benefits will be but temporary; and doubting whether it be a relief of the right character, have been induced to present a substitute which I think will ultimately benefit both the creditor and debtor class of this community. It is this. In all cases let the law have its ordinary course, so far as the rendering judgment in all cases where suits are commenced; let the judgment be binding upon all property; let an execution issue upon the judgment for the one sixth part thereof; at the expiration of twelve months for another sixth, and so on at the expiration of every twelve months until execution issues for the whole amount. Let no obstacle be thrown in the way of collecting the executions as they issue in the usual way.

In the mean time if there should be good reason to suspect a debtor of the intention of removing his property from the state, let the creditor have a writ of "Ne exeat" to prevent it.

It would be better for the creditors, as their debts in most cases would be ultimately paid with interest. It would be better for the debtor, as by industry and economy he would be enabled to save himself from ruin and pay his debts. It would be greatly to the interest of the State of Mississippi, as it would retain within her limits a very large amount of property that under the present circumstances is rapidly leaving it. In fact it would check the emigration of our citizens and their property.

THE BEAUTIES OF POLITICS.

He who has a keen sense of the ridiculous and who is not too easily disgusted, can find in the political brawls, with which the silence of our town is sometimes broken, abundant food for his gratification. Amid the din and roar of political warfare—the contests of noisy politicians—in the exciting discussions of the merit and qualifications of the different public men, from McNutt to his great prototype Gen. Jackson on the one hand, and Gen. Harrison on the other, in which the sanctity of private life is not, only disregarded but made the subject of vituperation and scandal—there is so nothing so excessively ludicrous as to attract a smile from the most callous.

The other day as I was walking along the street, I saw a large crowd collected on one of our pavements and heard a noise as of half-a-dozen auctioneers. My curiosity led me to see what was the matter. When I heard the following highly edifying conversation.

"Yes, by G—d, gentlemen, and what's more, Gen. Harrison voted in the Ohio Legislature, to sell white men for slaves to put them up on a block, and sell them to the highest bidder, and we've got the documents to show it, they never have denied it, they are afraid to deny it."

"Oh, I reckon you are mistaken, Pinchback, we have always denied that charge and triumphantly refuted it, as well as every other brought against Harrison."

"Refuted h—ll, why haven't we got the documents? haven't we got the records of the Legislature, certified by the most respectable men? Where is Overdone? come up here Overdone and pull out them papers, let the people see what sort of a man they are trying to palm off on them for President, here it is in black and white."

"Just let me say one word about that evidence, before you read it, and I think—"

"Read read, one ounce of good solid evidence is worth a hundred weight of idle talk."

Here, Overdone pulled out a large pocket book containing several hundred extracts from newspapers, and a motley collection it was, like the witches cauldron, there was, Eye of newt, and toe of frog, Wool of bat, and tongue of dog, Adder's fork, and blind worm's sting, Lizard's leg, and owl's wing.

Among which, pieces from the Globe, Nashville Union, Hopkin's letter, &c. shone conspicuously. Looking carefully over them, Overdone selected an article from the Globe, (of solid evidence) Oh temporal! Oh mortal! Here he read what purported to be a copy of the Journal of the Ohio Legislature, setting forth a bill for selling felons, so if they had worked out, for the State, the costs of prosecution, and which was approved by Harrison, when Governor.

"Now, gentlemen, what do you think of that? what more do you want? They may say this is a forgery, but here is the certificate of three as respectable men as live in Ohio, list n!"

"We, the undersigned, do hereby certify that the above is a true copy of the record, to the best of our knowledge and belief, Solomon Snooks, Abraham Gridiron, Samuel Slender."

"What can you say to that? not a word! you are arguing this is what I call a knock down argument, (he did not consider, that it would have taken a higher gifted tongue than usual to have slipped in a word just then) you cannot dispute it. Now, gentlemen, let me call on you to pause and reflect, before you take his leap in the dark! what do these Whigs ask you to do? to elect old Harrison and who is old Harrison? I never heard of him before he was a candidate, he says himself he is a rank abolitionist and proves it by Judge Somebody of Ohio, and we have no right to dispute his word. Suppose you elect him! what then? why in less time than two years, our most respectable citizens would be put up and sold at public auction! yes, Gen. Graham would be selling our lawyers for contempt of Court and who'll be the purchaser? why some big red eyed negro! now he is your master, he'll make your hide smart for every whipping you ever gave him. Yes, Glasspipe, I expect to take some negro off of you yet!"

Here several of the by-standers put in, "give it up, Glasspipe, you are beat, give it up."

"Just let me say one word, don't stop a man's mouth this—"

"Hal hal hal! It would kill old Jackson to see Harrison elected. He is too good a patriot, he loves his country too well, he could not stand it. Harrison! h—ll and be—"

Here, Glasspipe could stand it no longer, his cheeks were crimson with indignation—his portly chest heave tempestuously—his heart swelled in his throat and choked his utterance—rising up, with silent contempt, he walked slowly off, stroking his whiskers, and left Pinchback master of the field.

A BARGAIN.

THE YAZOO BANNER OFFICE is offered for sale. Having determined to go into other business, the proprietors offer this very valuable establishment for sale, upon the best terms, if application is made immediately. It is with one exception the most profitable weekly Printing Office in the State, and has an increasing patronage of the most lucrative character. Its advertising columns, for the past two years, will evidence its immense revenue. This is perhaps the most fertile Cotton region in the State, and this is now no doubt one of the richest Counties in Mississippi, and in a few years will ship more Cotton than any County in the State. The patronage which the office has enjoyed must continue for several years, as the laws of the late Legislature, in tend of shortening the time of the payments of debts, has so arranged it as to require that property shall be advertised now twice, when it was formerly but once, and hence to extend the time of paying debts.

It were a useless waste of time for us to indulge in a lengthy description of the advantages to be derived from a purchase of this office, as purchasers can best judge for themselves by calling upon either of the undersigned, and examining the same in person.

Memphis and Holly Springs Stage Line.

THE undersigned would respectfully inform the travelling public, that he has purchased Jefferson's splendid and swift line of four-horse mail coaches, which will run as usual from the Exchange Hotel, Memphis, to Holly Springs, via North Mt. Pleasant, through in one day. Leaves Memphis Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays, at 6 A. M. returns Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays at 6 P. M. At Holly Springs this line intersects the main line through Lagrange on to Bolivar and Nashville. It will also connect at Holly Springs with the main line leading to the south, viz: through Wyatt, Oxford, Coffeeville, Grenada, Carrollton, Lexington, Beaton and to Yazoo City. There is also a line in full operation from Lexington through Canton to Jackson, Miss, thence on by Clinton and Raymond to the Vicksburg Rail Road; likewise a line from Jackson through Gallatin to the Natchez Rail Road. Passengers taking the stage at Memphis will always arrive at Jackson, Miss, on the fourth day without night travelling, and will always find a safe and speedy conveyance to the south any distance they may desire to travel. The coaches and stock on the above lines are inferior to none in the United States, and every possible attention will be paid to the patrons of the line.
